What is a Pell Grant?

A Pell Grant is a type of federal financial aid program provided by the United States government to help undergraduate students pay for their college education. Unlike loans, Pell Grants do not have to be repaid, making them a valuable form of financial assistance for students with financial need.

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.” – Nelson Mandela

Michael Jackson Scholarship

This scholarship was begun by the United Negro College Fund (UNCF). It honors the late musical performer and you can win up to $4,000 in tuition aid if you major in communication, performing arts or English.

In order to win, you must have a 3.0 or better GPA. This scholarship awards up to $5,000 annually, depending on students' financial needs, which are verified by the college or university they attend. Learn more at the UNCF Scholarship site.
